

SASA Member

Jeff Bidwell, CST, CSFA, CSA, RSATN, KCSA, MA, FAST

Bidwell Jeff, CST, CSFA, CSA, RSATN, KCSA, MA, FAST graduated from the Madisonville Community College Surgical Technology Program in 1991, earned an AA degree from MCC in 1995, earned a BS degree from the University of Southern Indiana in 1997 and a Masters degree from Murray State University in 1999. Over the past 35 years he has worked in all surgical areas with a specialty in Orthopedics and for the past 25 years as an Instructor and Program Director. Currently Jeff is the Director of the Surgical First Assisting Program at the Madisonville Community College, adjunct instructor in America/European history, Surgical Technology director Dyersburg State Community college, PRN Surgical Assistant with Baptist/Deaconess Health Orthopedic department and adjunct faculty for Meridian Institute. He is currently serving on the Kentucky Medical Boards Surgical Assisting Committee, ARCSTSA Site Visitor and SASA (Sub-Committee on Accreditation for Surgical Assisting).

“Teaching surgical technology, surgical assisting, and history is a way to give back to professions that have been good to me.”

- Jeff Bidwell

Fun or Interesting Fact

When I do have a minute, I enjoy aquariums, scuba, motorcycles, old tractors and church.

